

MEDIA CONTACT

Lisa Bennett, Communications Director
lbennett@conferenceforwomen.org

Business Mogul Barbara Corcoran Has Joined the Pennsylvania Conference for Women Keynote Lineup

PHILADELPHIA, OCT. 22—Barbara Corcoran will be the final addition to the inspiring Pennsylvania Conference for Women keynote lineup, which also includes Joyce M. Abbott, Robin Arzón, Diana Nyad, Sheryl Lee Ralph, Dawn Staley, and Martha Stewart.

The Conference will take place on November 7th, 2024, at the Pennsylvania Convention Center. Limited tickets are still available, and they can be purchased here.

Barbara Corcoran is a business mogul, investment guru, podcaster, and top-selling author. However, she is best known for her smart wit and business savvy as a TV Personality and Executive Producer on the four-time Emmy Award-winning show Shark Tank.

Currently based in New York City, Barbara inspires entrepreneurs and business enthusiasts nationwide, often serving as a motivational and inspirational speaker and frequently contributing to organizations on small business and real estate topics.

The Pennsylvania Conference for Women advances women in the workplace and beyond. This nonpartisan, nonprofit event focuses on leadership, career advancement, and personal development. It is part of the largest national network of nonprofit conferences for women, with sister events in Boston, Austin, and Silicon Valley attracting nearly 50,000 attendees per year.

Apply for media credentials here.